FAVORS SCHOOL OF HYPNOTISM

Need Means to Study the Art.

New York Physician Would Like to Establish Institute.

Thinks One Million Dollars Would Be Required for Permanent Plant.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 .- At a meeting of the American Society of Scientific Research, John Duncan Quackenbos, M. D., scientific hypnotist, put in a plea for a hypnotic institute in New York. He would like to see $1,000,000 raised for a permanent plant, and as much more to "The value of such an institute," he said, would be twofold. In the first place it would furnish means for further study of hypnotism, mental suggestion, and the little known kindred phenomena. In the second place it could be used as an agent for the cure of disordered bodies and disordered minds.

"A young fellow applied this autumn for the cure of an irresistible impulse to throw himself into the arms of every corpulent woman he saw and be hushed off to sleep by her. He had planned escape by suicide. Such conditions yield to no human treatment except that of suggestion."

human treatment except that of sugges-tion."

By the same process actresses, musi-cians and literary persons have been taught to conquer doubt and self-con-sciousness and become great. An actress who had been treated said he was "con-scious of an internal elevation and ex-pansion. My soul rushed forward in one great, overmastering response to some creative communication," and she made a hit.

great, overmastering response to some creative communication," and she made a hit.

A clarinet player, who had difficulty with his technique, especially his sight reading, was taken in hand. As a result, he got a new place as first clarinot at double his former salary.

Dr. Quackenbos is of the opinion that hypnotic suggestion may be employed at childbirth to save the lives of mothers. The suggestive thought, "You must live for your child." would save many a woman at the critical time.

"It has been used in his own practice to cure such diseases as diabetes. It will in future, he believes, be used by trained nurses for the purpose of carrying patients through crises. Not only that, physicians of the future will, he says, use it to shape the future of the unborn, the character of the forming child being determined by ante-natal suggestion.

Hypnotic suggestion, in the opinion of Dr. Quackenbos, should be encouraged by all clergymen and all true Christians as a valuable ethical ally to Christianity, Just now it is reprehended by many ministers as tending to weaken the will. The reverse, he says, is true."

They are contesting the will in the California courts. The new witness heard to-day was Alfred Armand, a chef, who was in the hotel at the time of the fatality. Armand told the commissioner that he saw Miss Dolbeer leave a room on the ninth floor, go to a window, step upon the sill and disappear. He thought at first that the window opened upon a balcony or roof garden. An instant later he saw Miss Warren run screaming to the window and understood what had occurred. As he was on the ninth floor without permission, he said, he at once took an elevator and left the hotel, as he did not wish to become mixed up in the case.

HORSE DOES NOT REASON.

His Ability Lies in His Wonderful Power of Observation.

BERLIN, Dec. 10 .- Dr. Carl Stumpf, rofessor of physiology at the University of Berlin and a member of the Royal Academy of Science, and two colleagues, Dr. C. Von Hornbostel and Dr. O. Ffungst, have ended months of experiments with Von Osten's horse, Hans. They find that the secret of the animal's replies is in his powers of observation, which enable him to perceive while he looks at his questioner the instant he has which enable him to perceive while he looks at his questioner the instant he has reached a correct answer.

Thus they found the horse was unable to tap out a correct answer to a question when the person putting it did not know the answer, for example, how many persons are in the group behind me, the questioner did not look behind and Hans did not give a correct reply, nor was he able when wearing blinkers to perform the simplest counting.

Stumpf does not doubt the good faith of Yon Osten, but he concluded that the horse's long training had taught him to detect the eyesight changes in the bearing of his questioner as he reached the right number of hoof beats in spelling or in using the counting apparatus. This sharpness of observation in itself is most remarkable, as the horse notes movements or changes in expression invisible to others and of which the questioner is unconscious. This conception of the horse's abilities is the only one to cover all deconstances. reconscious. This conception of the Dr. Stumpf says he talked with the sturnlist about this and Shillings agreed

Queer Criticism of the President

Former Embassador White Objects Because Criminal's Death Sentence Was Commuted.

NEW YORK, Dec. 10 .- "Much as I admire President Roosevelt as a true man, we have seen today the sorry example of the mistake a strong man can make. The President was appealed to by a colored Baptist minister to save the latter's son from the gallows for the murder of a farmer in Canada. The President listened to the appeal and has succeeded in securing a commutation of sentence. I do not admire the Presi-dent for that."

This statement was made today by Andrew D. White, formerly United States Embassador to Germany, in the course of an address on "Evolution Revolution in Politica," before League for Political Education. before the

Mr. White had declared that high crime is more frequent in this country than anywhere else in the world save Sicily and that there is a widespread superatition here that it is the duty of the people to protect criminals.

SALT LAKE CITY UNFORTUNATE

School Election So Viewed in East.

Sectarian Victory in Public Educational Institutions a Menace.

Philadelphia Inquirer, Administration Newspaper, Vigorously Reviews Situation in Utah.

By A. F. Philips.

Special to The Tribune. WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 10 .- The Philadelphia Inquirer today, under the "Mormonizing Salt Lake Public Schools," says:

"An election fraught with tremendous significance just held in Salt Lake and settled Wednesday at the polls was over the control of the public schools. The Mormons carried everything before them. To the average citizen in the East the bare fact will mean nothing, for he will naturally inquire, 'What of it? Don't Mormons run Salt Lako?' He may be surprised to learn that, while the Mormons are powerful in the State at large, the city itself has had a majority of Gentiles opposed to them in politics. The Salt Lake public schools had not been Mormonized. "As a result of Wednesday's election there now is nothing to prevent the introduction of the religion and the training of the school children in the Mormon Tribune Is Quoted. "The Salt Lake Tribune, in an article spon the schools, printed just before the election, had this to say concerning them:

In the "religion classes" that are taught in more than three humired public schoolrooms in Utah (The Tribune has absolute proof that there are more than three hundred such classes) one of the lessons is "The Marriage at Cana of Gailles," as taught by the Mormon the father of children whose inhabit the earth! Inhabit the earth! In all that is fair and holy, do the fathers and mothers of Utah, both Mormon and Gentile, believe it is a Christian act to teach little boys and girls "the divinity of polygamy," and hold up the Nazarene in the light of a man possessed of such a nature as to desire the state of the state

Is it not only defamation, but blasphemy?

Blow to City's Reputation. "They have succeeded. The public school system in Salt Lake City, heretofore conducted upon educational lines entirely, has succumbed at last "If Mormonism, teaching absolute fealty to Mormon apostles, even to the extent of disloyalty and treachery to the United States Government, were confined within the boundaries of Utah, the situation would not be so bad. An ulcer restricted to a single spot can be dealt with. But Mormon missionaries are everywhere. "They have made but little progress in many States as yet, but there are localities where they have become a serious menace. "They are honey-combing Idaho, Wyoming and Nevada.

Congress Should Interfere. "They promise to control New Mexico not long after that Territory shall be admitted to the Union. One of these fine mornings the country will wake up to find eight Mormons United States Senators at Washington, in addition to two from Utah. That is precisely what will happen unless steps are taken to prevent it. If it is found, as a result of investigation of the Smoot case, that there is antagonism between the Mormon church and free institutions in the United States; if Mormon faith is placed so far above loyalty to the Government that the Government is defled in oaths of allegiance, then the duty of Senators would seem plain. "If loyalty to Mormon apostles and loyalty to the United States are incompatible, then there can be no questioning of the policy that would bar Mormons from Congress." The Philadelphia Inquirer is one of the strongest and most powerful friends of the National Administration in the United States, and its comment is regarded here as especially significant.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.-The Senate Committee on Territories, at a meeting this morning, decided to postpone action on the Statehood bill until next week. The bill was read and discussed, but owing to the absence of some of the memon the bill. Another meeting will be held on Monday.

The people of Arizona have made protest against the feature of the bill which consolidates that Territory with New Mexico as one State, and have asked for a hear-
